FREE TRADE

DID YOU KNOW?

Progressives installed the income tax to take the place of tariffs, saddling the American citizen with the responsibility of funding the federal government, instead of tariffs (which had funded our first 100 years)

Congress transferred much of its Constitutional duty of regulating foreign commerce to the Executive Branch in 1934 (Trade Agreements Act)

The Executive Branch further transfers commerce regulating duties to international organizations through trade agreements: United Nations, World Trade Organization, NATO

The Takeaway:

In the era of NAFTA and the World Trade Organization (WTO), it is easy to overlook the fact that countries once traded with each other without that trade being managed by multinational or international trade regimes. Congress once exercised its constitutional powers to set tariffs and, in general, to "regulate commerce with foreign nations" (Article I, Section 8 of the Constitution).

Let's get back to the Constitution to protect American liberty and independence!

"The free trade movement ... is related in this country to the ... world government movement"

— U.S. Senator George W. Malone, 1958

Karl Marx, author of Communist Manifesto, endorsed free trade: "But, generally speaking, the Protective system in these days is conservative, while the Free Trade system works destructively. It breaks up old nationalities and carries antagonism

I am in favor of Free Trade,"

INFORMATION AND ACTION MEETING

PRE-MEETING

- Contact your local Coordinator
- Settle on a video related to a JBS Action Project (preferably related to the monthly focus of the current JBS Bulletin)
- Download a video flyer from the members' section of JBS.org or contact HQ to request one
- Arrange the time, date, and place of the meeting (local member homes work best, private rooms at restaurants are ok). Plan to hold these meetings regularly, so be consistent with location
- Distribute the flyer and a personal invitation to prospects
- Notify all local members well in advance and urge them to contact their prospects
- Follow up with telephone calls one or two days before the meeting
- Make certain that the appropriate equipment is available
- Ensure that pertinent literature is available for sale (along with sample copies of The New American, Bulletins and applications for membership)
- Eliminate or minimize distractions during the meeting such as small children and pets

AT THE MEETING

- Start on time, all time, every time!!
- Have someone say a prayer and lead the pledge
- Welcome guests and thank the host
- Introduce JBS leadership
- Introduce the topic
- Watch the video
- Discuss action that could be taken and any upcoming planned events that they can get involved with
- Promote literature for sale
- Pass out applications
- Make a group appeal to join
- Adjourn for refreshments and personal appeals to join
- Make follow-up appointments with those prospects who do not join (within a week)
- REPEAT!

Only invite prospects that you want as members.

Don't sacrifice quality of prospect over the goal of merely filling the room.

Think quality over quantity.
