Kurt Hyde

Kurt Hyde holds a bachelor's degree in physics and a master's degree in systems management. He is also a retired lieutenant colonel in the U.S. Air Force Reserve.

As an adjunct instructor teaching computer science in 1985 and 1986, Kurt led his students in a study of a computerized voting booth and concluded that it needed a voter-verified paper trail in order to ensure that the computerized voting equipment did as the voters instructed. He introduced that concept on August 14,1986, at a symposium in Boston. This is the earliest known formal presentation for a voter-verified paper trail in electronic voting equipment.

Kurt has studied the history of elections in America, and he has recently completed a book entitled America's Electoral Heritage. He has also written numerous articles for The New American dealing with all aspects of election integrity, from voter registration and casting ballots to the final counting and processing of election results.

OMMUN

Despite the disasters that communism has wreaked on countries around the world, communists are getting elected in this country by promising free stuff.

by C. Mitchell Shaw

RICHMOND— Mainstream media outlets have spent the last four and a half years focused on the phantom of Russia influencing U.S. elections with the help of Donald Trump. Meanwhile, pro-Chinese communists working within and without the Democratic Party have been successfully implementing a plan to flip one state after another toward the left. The goal is to use Democratic control as a transitional stage toward communist control.

According to a co-ex-cutive director of a pro-Maoist group operating in the United States, that plan was "put in motion years ago." That co-executive ago." Intil co-executive communess u director is Tram Nguyen, and her organization is New Virginia Ma-jority (NVM). Nguyen's admission took the form of a boast in a November 6 op-ed piece for the New York Thues.

Nguyen wrote that NVM has spent the past 12 years working to 'reach voters of all colors, women, low-income workers and young people where they are." She added that this "has made it possible for us to develop a robust base of support along Virginia's so-called Urban Crescent, from Northern Virginia to Hampton Roads."

Going with the communists: Durham, North Carolina, voters — like those in other areas throughout the country — were swayed by pro-Chinese communists who targeted strategic areas for a leftward shift.

As to the tactic and the message, Nguyen wrote. "Long before Election Day, we reeistered more than 300,000 voters, knocked on more than 2.5 million doors, and organized within communities of color to help win significant policy changes like Med-icaid expansion, which covered nearly 400,000 people."

So, NVM targeted minority neighborhoods (which are statistically lower-income neighborhoods) with a pitch for voter regis-tration and an increased voter tumout tied to and benefits from the public till. The result was exactly what they hoped for. Those newly minted, politically uninformed voters turned out en masse and placed Vin-ginia squarely in the clutch-es of the Democrats.

Of course, political ac-tivist groups are nothing new. And for a political activist group to knock on doors, register voters, and midge those new voters to vote a certain way is to be expected. What sets NVM apart from the pack is its pedigree — which includes pure-bred Maoist elements. As the inestimable Trevor most influential Maoist organization.

As Loudon wrote in an article focused on NVM's success in Virginia:

NVM is led by longtime FRSO/Lib-eration Road cadre Jon Liss of Alexandria. Several FRSO cadres have served in NVM over the years, as have many activists from two NVM satellite groups, LeftRoots and the Virginia Student Power Network.
