

How the Left Plans Behind the Scenes

What is the one ingredient the left has that we do not? Organization. Using the purported words of President Franklin Delano Roosevelt: Nothing happens by accident in politics. If it happens, you can bet it was planned that way.

Marxists are not rushing to put their plans on display. Instead, they plan what they are going to do and then they organize it behind the scenes. Sometimes it involves using public demonstrations. Other times, a stealth operation never seen by the public, utilizing their organization and its influence behind a curtain of secrecy. The freedom movement needs to do the same thing, but how? Find out on today's Activate America how the left schemes behind the scenes, and what we can do to push back.
