

With all the faux outrage surrounding the fake news generated around President Trump and the November election, you might be missing what's going on across the big pond. It seems Great Britain may be planning on breaking international law in regards to its recently negotiated Brexit deal.

Who cares? You should! As it may have direct ramifications on your freedom and independence after the election. We'll explain and suggest ways you can help in this episode of Activate America, getting active to throw off government tyranny.
