There is no denying that the election of 2020 will be highly debated for years to come.

Quite honestly, there is only one way that we can set the stage for fair and open elections. That is by changing the laws in every state to ensure that the process is open and above board. This process should begin now in your state if it hasn't already done so.

Find out what the process is and what you can do to ensure fair and open elections in your state.
