

Out-Organize the Communists

The left is always trying to push its agenda forward. For instance, we know that they are pursuing a one world government to be embodied in the United Nations. We know that they want to nationalize our police, making them an arm of the Deep State and the UN.

So what has propelled the left to become so powerful, both in the past and in recent years? Clever methods of organization have been the driving force behind the left's success for revolution. How can we in the freedom movement help combat this issue? Find out how The John Birch Society has helped defend against communist tactics on this episode of Activate America.
