

The War in Afghanistan: Who's Responsible?

There's more than meets the eye when it comes to the recent withdrawal of American troops from Afghanistan. For example, did you know the War in Afghanistan was prominently led by members of the Council on Foreign Relations? For those unaware, the CFR's mission is a one-world government, not an independent United States.

Within 9 days we have witnessed the fall of the Afghan government and the rapid sweeping advancement of the Taliban across all of Afghanistan. So what's really behind the mayhem in the middle-east? Art Thompson will bring you a bit closer to the truth on this week's episode of Activate America.

Action Items:

1.) Learn more about how the Council on Foreign Relations pulls government strings in Art's book, Shadows of the Deep State

2) Get involved & help stop a North American Union by using our action page