

Voting Laws and the Elephant in the Room

The mainstream media has continually reported on the companies that are criticizing the new voting act in Georgia. There is more to the story. What the media isn't reporting is the organization that links them all together, and has much to gain if laws such as Georgia's, Senate Bill 202, are never enacted. The elephant in the room is the Council on Foreign Relations and their main goal of a New World Order.
