

This week Dr. Duke discusses how different crises throughout history have threatened our Republic. Find out what types of things the latest crisis will affect; such as the American economy and the American order over all.