The Article V convention movement that is being led by The Convention of States or COS continues to spout hope of grassroots activists wanting new amendments to the Constitution for the sake of liberty.

The key difference between Convention of States leadership and Birchers is that we know the Founding Fathers gave us a document that is meant to be followed precisely the way it was written.

We don't need to change the Constitution. We the people, and all that are elected to serve this great country need to obey it.
