

If the democratic party gains a majority in the house after the November midterm elections, impeaching president Trump could be at the top of their priorities. Today, we look at how that could be used as a distraction to push through legislation much like what happened during the Kavanaugh hearings.

Know before you vote - Freedom Index:

<https://www.jbs.org/store/shopjbs/freedom-index-august-2018-reprint-1798>