STATES REACT TO RIOTS

If you were a state governor and you knew that there was a good chance that violent looters would be active in your state, then what would you do? Would you wait to see what happens first and then send in authorities to just clean up the mess? Or would you be prepared and stage resources to quickly react to cut down on potential illegal activity?

We'll look at how these two approaches have played out in Washington state and South Dakota in this episode of Analysis Behind the News, where we provide the perspective that you can use to restore American liberty and independence.
