In this week's "Analysis Behind the News," JBS Director of Communications Bill Hahn reviews some of the top headlines of the week, including a misplaced US missile found in Cuba, ObamaCare repeal veto, Detroit teacher protests, Beware software, and comments on the Oregon standoff.

Many times we read the news without a constitutional context and do not think of the ramifications that our in-actions have on the world around us. Think about what you and other locally concerned Americans could do if you used that context to help build understanding and employed constitutional solutions.
